Calgary Plastic Surgeon Disciplined for Negligence

September 9, 2020

In a recent medical malpractice suit, a Calgary-based plastic surgeon was disciplined for not supervising a resident surgeon who removed the wrong bone from a patient's wrist.

The story was reported on CTV News and on Global News.

This a sobering reminder that when a doctor is negligent, they are to be held accountable. For our client, this is only the beginning of her journey but it is one more positive step towards getting closure.
