Conflict Management services are available for family estate planning and future wealth distribution

May 16, 2019

McLeod Law is pleased to offer mediation services to those wanting to reach a family estate planning resolution or to prevent personal disputes over wealth distribution in the future. We do this by using mediation techniques in conflict management.

Shelley Waite and Aaron Bickman of our Wills, Trusts & Estates group have earned an Executive Certificate in Conflict Management from The University of Windsor, Faculty of law. This is an executive program accredited by the Law Society (UK), the ADR Institute of Ontario and is provided by the Stitt Feld Handy Group.

As designated mediators and lawyers, Shelley and Aaron are equipped to bring families together to uncover expectations at any stage of their estate planning process.

To see if mediation is right for your estate planning or administration needs, contact them today.
