Privacy & Cybersecurity

In today's world, companies need to be in compliance with privacy laws and regulations, as well as protect themselves from any potential security breaches. Our Privacy & Cybersecurity group understands that prevention and compliance is the way to set your business up for success and to avoid any legal missteps. We can help craft your privacy and cybersecurity policies and protocols from scratch, or provide tailored legal improvements to your existing protocols, all with the end goal of making sure your business is in compliance with the law.

Our group will work to understand your business, your tolerance for risk and your overall goals. We offer both business and litigation perspectives when it comes to privacy and cybersecurity, as well as industry-specific knowledge to provide you with innovative, cost-effective solutions to make sure your business is up to speed in this ever-evolving digital world.

We advise clients on:

- Compliance gap analysis
- Privacy Policies and Protocols
- Governance
- Incident response prevention
- Prevention of data breach
- Investigating privacy/compliance breaches
- Risk assessments

We advise enterprises of all shapes and sizes, that collect personal information. They operate in any industry but those at the highest risk tend to operate in healthcare, financial services, telecommunications, transportation, app or web developers and retailers. We primarily work with the executives, boards and senior management on privacy and cybersecurity matters.
